HSE Risk Leadership Program

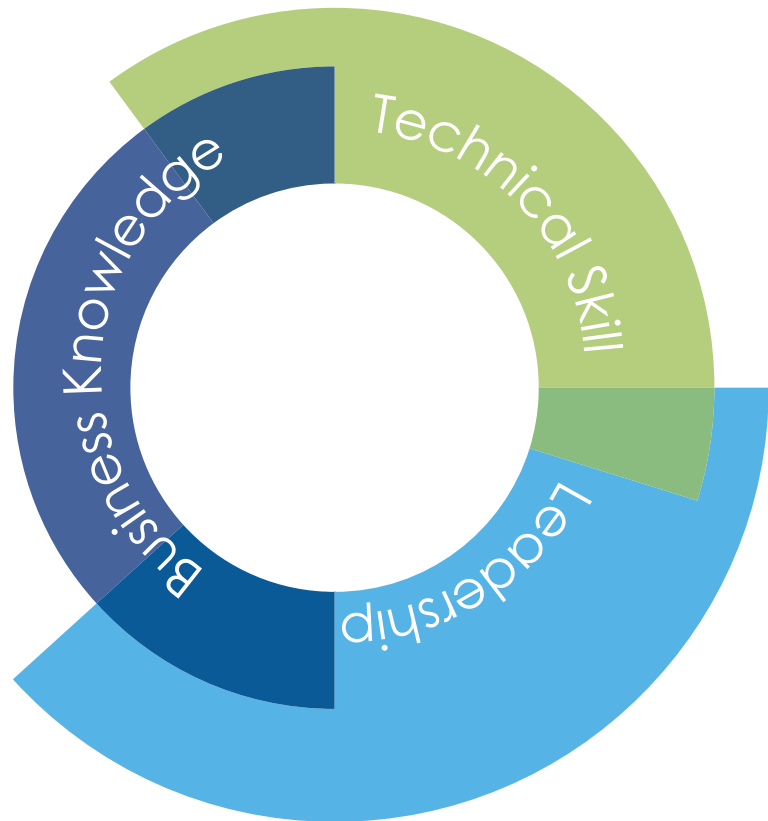

At Interflow, safety is one of the pillars that underpins everything we do. We are committed to continual improvement in the way we manage our Operations, Environmental and Safety obligations.

To strengthen Interflow's position on our Health, Safety and Environmental (HSE) expectations, we have a corporate HSE strategy underpinned by our vision of Harm 2 Zero (H20).

To achieve our vision, strong HSE leadership and effective engagement is required from our most influential staff.

A key Strategic initiative is the delivery of the 'HSE Risk Leadership Program'. The program provides the Interflow leadership team with technical HSE skills to be able to effectively lead HSE in the business, promote risk based decision making and align their teams thinking and behaviours to Interflows HSE strategic direction and initiatives.

The capability uplift this program will provide will build HSE leadership skills and positively shift HSE maturity and culture, through a fit for purpose and contemporary approach.

The program will be delivered by both internal and external subject matter experts in the HSE field and the content will continually evolve to meet our current and future business needs.
